

HealthInfo clinical advisers

All information on HealthInfo is written or approved by HealthInfo's clinical advisers, working with other health specialists. The clinical advisers are all qualified health professionals working in the Canterbury health system.

All HealthInfo clinical advisers must fully disclose any potential conflicts of interest. A conflict of interest is any situation in which a clinical adviser's personal or business interests, loyalties or relationships could affect their ability to make a decision in the best interests of the website.

Current clinical advisers are:

Medical

Graham McGeoch	GP, Chief clinical editor
Denise Nicholson	GP, Senior clinical editor
Hannah Gordon	GP, Senior clinical editor
Lucinda Whiteley	GP, Senior clinical editor
Amelia Howard-Hill	Nurse practitioner, Clinical editor
Caroline Ansley	GP, Clinical editor
Ilana Yannai	GP, Clinical editor
Jenny Usher	Clinical nurse specialist, Clinical editor
Meredith Hicks	GP, Clinical editor
Rebecca Nicholls	GP, Clinical editor

Other health professionals

Alison Lunn	Speech language therapy
Celia Monk	Physiotherapy
Claire MacDonald	Midwifery
Denise Dwyer	Social work
Ginny Brailsford	Pharmacy
Janeen Richardson	Occupational therapy
Juliet Gray	Dentistry and oral health
Kirsten Carey	Practice nursing
Rochelle van Eysden	Optometry
Sally Watson	Dietetics
Whitney King	Podiatry

Written by HealthInfo clinical advisers. Updated December 2017.